

Trump got an 'unconditional release' in the case of bribing a porn star

Trump pic.,

The newly elected US President Donald Trump received 'unconditional release' as a punishment in the case of bribing a porn star. New York Supreme Court Justice Juan Marchan made the historic ruling on

The newly elected US President Donald Trump received 'unconditional release' as a punishment in the case of bribing a porn star. New York Supreme Court Justice Juan Marchan made the historic ruling on Friday (January 10). Reuters news.

In this case, even Donald Trump has been spared from jail and fine. Earlier, the New York High Court rejected Donald Trump's appeal to stay the sentence in the porn star bribery case. This unprecedented verdict came after almost 6 years of the case.

According to the court's ruling, this verdict is the only legal punishment without any interference in the position of the highest ruling person of the United States. Donald Trump hid information about bribing former porn star in 2016 presidential election. Later, in 2023, he was found guilty of 34 charges.

It should be noted that Donald Trump will sit in the US legislature for the second time after taking the oath on January 20. Earlier, the US court announced the sentence against him.

/SIN